

RED CROSS DRIVE OPENS TODAY; TO SOLICIT $14,000 IN THIS COUNTY

The Adams County Chapter of the Red Cross opened its 1953 campaign for $14,000 today and at noon announced $1,558 already had been received. Most of this sum came in from businesses and organizations that made their donations in advance of the opening date for the drive for funds with which to operate this year.

Campaign Chairman Charles W. Wolf and his co-chairman, N. A. Meligakes, announced today the names of more than 500 solicitors who have started work in all sections of Adams County, seeking the funds to meet the chapter's quota for the national Red Cross and to secure money to continue the services performed in this area by the county chapter.

LIONLIKE MARCH FOLLOWS MILD WEATHER HERE

With spring only three weeks away, March arrived like a lion Sunday on high winds that brought snow into Adams County this morning as this area got a taste of the blizzard that nearly spanned the nation over the weekend.

Today's wintry weather followed the mildest February here in 14 years. Not since February of 1939 has an February been as warm as the month just ended when the average temperature was 37.53 degrees as compared with a normal average of 31.5 degrees. Last year February was warm but it did not approach the 1953 temperature levels. In February of last year, the average temperature was 36.3.

The mercury climbed above freezing every day last month, an unusual feat in February, and the month's high was 68 degrees on February 21. The lowest reading was 14 above zero on February 2. There were six days last month when the mercury failed to get down to the freezing mark.

'53 Warm, Wet So Far

With only 1.8 inches of snow in the month, February's precipitation was slightly below normal. The total was 2.63 inches as compared with normal of 2.68 inches. Measurable amounts of rain or snow fell on only five days.

February's rain and snow brought the total for the first two months of the year to 8.43 inches, or an excess of 2.66 inches above normal for those two months. In January the rain and snow totaled 5.8 inches, an excess of 2.71 inches.

Both months were warmer than usual, making this one of the mildest winters in years. The accumulated excess in the daily average temperatures for the first two months is 11.21 degrees so far this year.

The weekend got March off to a chilly start and this morning's low of 18 degrees made it the coldest day since February 18. At 8:30 a.m. the snow was swirling down and the mercury remained 11 degrees below freezing with the prospects pointing to a day of below-freezing weather.

KENNAN READY FOR NEW POST

George F. Kennan, technically still U.S. Ambassador to Moscow, said over the weekend he is holding himself available for a new assignment in the Eisenhower administration.

Kennan, who has been living on his 235-acre Pennsylvania farm near East Berlin since he was declared persona non grata by Moscow, said otherwise he had no immediate plans.

"I have had no communication from the new administration about my future," Kennan said.

He said in the event he is permitted to retire as a career diplomat, he would probably "go back to my work at Princeton." Kennan is a member of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton.

By law, Kennan will retire three months after his resignation as ambassador to Moscow is accepted by President Eisenhower unless he is offered another position. As a former ambassador, the only positions open to him would be those of ambassador, minister-counselor, consul-general or a post in the Department of State.

The three-month period in which the administration must either assign or retire Kennan is figured from the date that his successor, Charles E. Bohlen, is confirmed by the senate and commissioned by the Department of State.

There have been reports that Kennan, one of the free world's foremost experts on Russia, might be assigned to Switzerland or Yugoslavia.

Lafayette Edges Bullet Cagers 56-54 On Tap-In Goal In Final Seconds; Dickinson Next Foe

A tap-in of a rebound shot by Leon Miller, 6-5 Lafayette center, in the last five seconds of play gave the Leopards a 56-54 decision over the Gettysburg College cagers in a hotly contested game at Easton Saturday night.

It was a heart-breaking defeat for the Bullets who had fought back into contention after trailing at one point early in the final period 49-38.

Plenty of thrills were packed into the final three minutes. The Bullets trailed 53-45 when three straight shots by Johnny Habeeb, Bob Pizolato and again Habeeb brought the score to 53-51 with 2:35 minutes remaining. A technical foul against Lafayette coach Van Bredakoff was converted by Pizolato. With 1:25 left Quigg was fouled and made the second of the two shots. Less than a minute remained when Pizolato was fouled but he missed both tries.

Gettysburg gained possession when Lafayette knocked the ball out of bounds and Joe Lang landed on a set shot to make it 54-54 with 40 seconds remaining. The Leopards retained possession to try for one shot. Cary Ahl, former Carlisle star, drove in from one side with five seconds remaining. His shot came off the board and dropped outside of the rim from where Miller tapped it in to clinch the game.

The game opened slowly with Lafayette gaining a 7-2 lead but the Bullets fought back to tie it up at 11-11. A pair of quick goals by Miller and Captain Alvigi gave Lafayette a 15-11 edge at the quarter.

A goal by Alvigi and foul by Miller opened the second period and the Coach "Hen" Bream's lads sprinted in the late minutes to tie at 24-24 and go ahead 26-24 on two goals by Pizolato. A goal by Miller was followed by twin-pointers by Eckman and Pizolato and Gettysburg led 30-26 at the half. Weisenborn's goal finishing the scoring just before the half ended.

Lafayette went ahead 34-31 before Lang connected twice and Habeeb added a foul to put the Bullets on top 36-34. Following Quigg's tying goal, Lang put Gettysburg in front for the last time on a foul at 37-36. A run of 13 points by the Leopards while the Bullets' lone retaliation was a foul by Bill Snyder gave Lafayette a 49-38 margin early in the fourth period before Gettysburg put on its spirited rally that nearly pulled the game from the fire.

The Bullets registered but 29 per cent of their shots on 21 goals in 71 tries Lafayette sank 20 of 56 shots for 36 per cent.

Dickinson will come here Wednesday evening for the final home engagement for the Bullets this season. The freshmen will meet at 7 o'clock.

Catholic League Playoff At GHS

Gettysburg High School's gymnasium will be the site Tuesday night for the championship game of the Central Pennsylvania Catholic Scholastic League, according to arrangements made over the weekend.

Harrisburg Catholic, coached by Les Gimanni, former Gettysburg College football star, won the first half honors and will meet York Catholic, second half titlist.

Harrisburg has a 20-3 record and York 20-2. Originally the game was slated for the college court but was transferred due to the coeds meeting Elizabethtown here that evening.

GAME AT SHIPPENSBURG

Announcement was made late this morning that Bolling Springs, Adams County League champions, will meet Greencastle, Franklin County League titlist, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock on the Shippensburg State Teachers College floor in a Class B District 3 PIAA playoff. Originally the game had been listed for the Gettysburg High floor but was changed due to another event at the school which would place too large a load on parking facilities.

FRESHMEN DEFEATED

The Gettysburg College freshman wrestling team was blanked 36-0 by the Lehigh frosh in a meet Saturday night at Bethlehem.

New Oxford And Scotland To Meet Here This Evening

A man-sized job is in store for the New Oxford High School cagers tonight when they tangle with Scotland on the Gettysburg College floor in a Class C District 3 PIAA playoff game.

Coach Russ Sohnleitner's countenances finished in a tie with Biglerville for second place in the Adams County League to qualify as a Class C entrant in the district playoffs.

Tonight's game, which will start at 8 o'clock with doors opening at 7, will be the third time the rivals have met this season. Scotland took both previous engagements last December by winning on the Caret's floor 47-20 and at New Oxford 47-38. The Franklin Countians have a big, fast team which proved its mettle Thursday by lacing a highly-rated Newport team 61-42 to enter the second-round play.

5 DEFENDING CAGE CHAMPS ARE DEFEATED

By DICK HOENIG

HARRISBURG (AP)—A fourth and fifth defending district schoolboy cage champion are sitting on the sidelines today as the 1953 month-of-March playoff merry-go-round starts revolving.

Just six of last year's 11 Class A district titlists are left in the running among some 50 quintets aiming to succeed Farrell as state Class A champion.

Farrell's successor will be decided Saturday, March 28, in the first Pennsylvania championship basketball game to be televised over a statewide network.

The Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association sponsor of the playoffs, yesterday announced definite plans for stations in Philadelphia, Lancaster, Reading and Pittsburgh to carry the game from the Palestra in Philadelphia. Other outlets may be added to the network.

Mark N. Funk, PIAA executive director, explained the move to televise the finals as an attempt to get statewide coverage of the event.

Clearfield Wins
Punxsutawney of District 9 and Catasauqua of District 11 gave up their claims to a second consecutive district crown as conference play came to an end over most of the state last week end.

Clearfield took the measure of Punxsutawney for the second time in three tries in a playoff for the Southern Section of District 9. Clearfield's only loss in 20 games was to the same Punxsutawney.

Catasauqua was counted out of the playoffs when the tiny school, surprise of last year's tourney, was beaten by Slaton in the first of two games to unscramble a three-way second round finish in the Lehigh Valley League. Catasauqua went to the 1952 semifinals before losing to Coatesville.

Coatesville, last year's runnerup to Farrell and again a favorite for the eastern title, qualified for district play by decisioning Pottstown in a rubber game Saturday. It was the third time in the three years of the Gies-Mont League's existence that the two clubs fought it out for the championship in a post season game.

2-Day Schedule
The scholastic schedule for tonight and tomorrow is crammed with playoff tests to decide second half and seasonal champs. Tonight's games:

Nesquehoning against Mahanoy City for the Black Diamond circuit championship.

Hershey against Chambersburg for the second half crown of the South Penn.

Charleroi against Ford City in the first quarterfinal of the WPIAL eliminations.

Tomorrow it's:
Bethlehem against Allentown for the second cycle title of the East Penn.

Palmerston against Slaton for the second half flag of the Lehigh Valley.

And Reading, defending District 3 champion, gets a last chance to qualify for the tourney against Harrisburg John Harris March 9 for the playoff berth.

3 Champs Beaten
Three district champions were counted out of the 1953 playoffs earlier this month. Farrell was eliminated by Sharon in the Section 3 race of the WPIAL; Swoyersville lost out in the North League to Ashley; and Westmont dropped its Tri-County League toga to Johnstown.

Four more conference winners were added to the list of champions over the week end. Besides Coatesville, repeat winner in the Ches-Mont; two District 10 sectional

Ralph Kiner Is '53 Holdout; Dispute Is Over Salary Cut, Date Of Starting Training

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Ralph Kiner, the Pittsburgh Pirates' home run king, acknowledges he's a 1953 holdout.

And a little simple arithmetic indicates he and general manager Branch Rickey are about $9,000 apart in their dickering for the slugger's services.

As his teammates reported yesterday for spring training at Havana, Cuba, Kiner said he had air-mailed an offer to Rickey a week ago to join them.

It was an acceptance, Ralph said, of terms offered by Rickey in a conference at a Hollywood hotel Feb. 13.

The reported sum involved was $76,500—a cut from Kiner's reported $90,000 salary last year when his batting average slipped to .244.

Yesterday in Havana, Kiner said he hadn't received Rickey's letter of acceptance—and that new salary talks would have to start on the basis of a 25 per cent salary slash. That figures out to $67,500.

Kiner responded: "Under those terms I'm going to have to be a holdout."

He said he accepted the Feb. 13 "substantial" cut because Rickey allowed him to report two weeks later for training. This would enable him and his wife, tennis star Nancy Chaffee, to operate their gift shop here that much longer at the height of the tourist season in this desert resort.

"He made an offer to me which I accepted," Kiner said. "Now if he's going to back down and ask me to take a 25 per cent cut we're

ALL-AMERICA BASKETBALL SQUAD PICKED

NEW YORK (AP)—The Pacific Coast Conference, the Ivy League, two eastern independents and one Pacific Northwest independent are represented on the 1953 Associated Press collegiate All-America basketball team.

Named to the first team by a vote of 201 sportswriters and broadcasters were:

Walter Dukes, 6-11, star of Seton Hall's top ranked team.

Little Johnny O'Brien, 5-9, scoring sensation of Seattle University.

Bob "Hooks" Houbregs, 6-7, who led the University of Washington to the title in the southern division of the Pacific Coast Conference.

Gola And Beck
Tom Gola, 6-6, sophomore of La Salle's defending titl champions, termed by his coach, Ken Loeffler, "the most natural basketball player I've ever seen."

Ernie Beck, 6-4, whiz of the University of Pennsylvania who has kept the Red and Blue in the thick of the fight for the Ivy League championship.

Dukes, who displayed tremendous improvement on the court this season compared to a year ago, led in the voting by a big majority. On the basis of five points for a first team vote and two for a second team vote he received a total of 684 points, including 134 first team ballots.

O'Brien, who makes up for his lack of height with terrific leg spring, got 502 points. Houbregs followed with 450, then Gola with 380 and Beck with 364.

titlists won league races.

Sharpsville downed Hickory to take Section 3 and Meadville avenged an earlier defeat at the hands of Oil City to come out victorious in Section 2. Meadville is the defending district champ.

Athens beat Towanda in a playoff to recapture the Roosevelt Trail League crown for another year.

The PCIAA front finds the way being cleared for playoff action. Pittsburgh North dropped Pittsburgh Central last week to take the Pittsburgh diocese a crown. In the northeast, Scranton Prep, having just about tied up the Northern Division title, awaits a March 10 meeting with St. Joseph's of Williamsport.

going to have a little trouble getting together."

In Havana, Rickey said: "The first offer was based on his reporting March 15, but I had to send him a telegram explaining a change in terms based on his arriving at camp March 1 instead of March 15. I advised him that he could advance salary terms if he wished to do so in the event he reported on the earlier date."

Kiner said he drew no conclusion from the letter and telegram that he could advance salary terms and added: "If he'd clarified that we might have gotten together. I was all set to leave in two or three days if he'd accepted my acceptance of his offer."

No Trade Deals
Expressing confidence he and Rickey could come to terms, Kiner said:

"No matter what happens I know I'm going to be playing ball for the Pittsburgh Pirates this year—unless I'm traded."

Rickey said there were no deals pending to trade Kiner, and the slugger said he knew of none.

Kiner said he planned to start workouts today with the Seattle club, which trains here. Therefore, he said, "this delay won't hurt me."

The Pirates' new team manager, Fred Haney, commented: "I don't know about the money part of the contract, but I feel Kiner should report with the first bush league player for that kind of dough."

And Kiner replied: "I agree. I'd like to be there now. It's the money that's holding me up."

Ex-Champ, New Star Meet In Playoffs

HOUSTON (AP)—Two former national champions and three young stars met here today in a rare five-way playoff to decide the winner of the largest first prize on golf's winter tour.

A thrill-packed half hour on the eighteen green yesterday left five players tied at 283 for the $4000 top prize in the $20,000 Houston Open. This was five under par for 72 holes on the 7150-yard Memorial Park course.

Cary Middlecoff, the magnificent scrambler from Memphis, added the final touches when he missed a 3-foot putt that would have given him the championship.

The other four already had shared the thrills witnessed by a gallery estimated at from 12,000 to 14,000.

Teeling off in this afternoon's fivevome with Middlecoff, the 1949 national open champion, were Jim Ferrier, San Francisco, the 1947 PGA title holder, and three newcomers—Shelley Mayfield, Cedarhurst, N. Y., Bill Nary, Los Angeles, and Earl Stewart, Jr., Dallas.

WHITFIELD HAS BROKEN THREE WORLD MARKS

NEW YORK (AP)—With one more month of the indoor campaign to go, Mal Whitfield today had broken just three of the 10 world records he hopes to shatter before the season runs out.

Some have been near-misses as the 800 meters and half-mile in the Knights of Columbus meet Saturday night—finale of the Madison Square Garden program.

Had he gone a total of only a half-second faster, Mal would have had those, too, in addition to the 600 yards and 500 meters he broke later.

"I could have gone faster," he said. "My last lap was too slow. I thought I was going fast enough to break the record. If I had known I was falling behind in the last lap I'd have speeded up."

As it was, Mal hit the tape for the half-mile in 1:50.9, four-tenths of a second off John Borican's record and passed the 800 meters in 1:50.1, one-tenth of a second over the mark.

He hit the 600 yards in 1:09.5, and passed the 500 meters in 1:02.9, shaving big chunks off the 1:10.2 held jointly by himself, Borican and Hugh Short, and the 1:04.4, established by Wesley Wallace.

DAYTON FLYERS TOPPLE SETON HALL 71 TO 65

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Only one position remained open in each of the two major postseason basketball tournaments today but the big news was the Dayton Flyers, who'll not be in either one.

The Flyers, who went to the finals of the National Invitation Tournament and lost to Illinois in the first round of the National Collegiate Athletic Association Tourney last year, toppled Seton Hall from the unbeaten ranks, 71-65, at Dayton last night.

Seton Hall, the nation's No. 1 ranked team and seeded first in the NIT, had racked up 27 victories before running into a Dayton fly that had lost 13 of its 27 starts this season.

NCAA Lineup Unsettled
Meantime, the lineup for the NCAA championship test was far from settled even though only one team is needed to complete the 22-team bracket.

The statement may sound a little contradictory but this is the situation:

Fourteen of the 22 teams will be conference champions. Eight of the conference titles still are in doubt and at least one of them, the Southern, will not be decided until Saturday, when the annual tournament ends at Raleigh, N. C.

The other eight spots are filled by teams selected at large. There is only one of these positions open and that is expected to be filled by Santa Clara today.

Present Lineup
The National Invitation Tournament, which opens in Madison Square Garden Saturday, plans to announce the final selection for the 12-team bracket and a pairings at a luncheon today. The odds were that No. 12 would be either Brigham Young or Wyoming, depending on which finishes second in the Skyline Conference. The winner is committed to compete in the NCAA.

When the week-end maneuvering was complete the lineups for the two tournaments were:

NIT—Once-beaten Seton Hall, winner of 27 straight games until defeated by Dayton; La Salle, last year's winner and loser of only two games, both to De Paul; Western Kentucky; Manhattan; Duquesne; St. John's of Brooklyn; Niagara; Louisville; Tulsa; St. Louis; and Georgetown.

NCAA—Holy Cross, Lebanon Valley, Indiana, De Paul, Notre Dame, Eastern Kentucky, Navy, Seattle, Seattle, Idaho State, Louisiana State, Fordham, Oklahoma City and Miami of Ohio.

Bubblers Defeat Cannners To Add Playoff Title; Newville Wins Consolation From N.O.

Bolling Springs added the playoff title of the Adams County Basketball League to its regular season championship by defeating Biglerville 59-50 in the final of the fourth annual Shaughnessy playoffs at Biglerville Saturday evening.

The Bubblers were given stiff opposition by Biglerville and found themselves trailing 28-23 at half time.

After taking a 34-33 lead at the end of the third frame, the county champions gradually pulled away in the final quarter.

Lebo and Bream, with 19 and 13 points respectively, paced the winners while Terry Hutton, Clyde Coulson and Terry Lower secured 12, 11 and 10 in that order for the Cannners.

The consolation game provided a thriller when Newville edged New Oxford 39-38.

Coach Russ Sohnleitner's New Oxford team was apparently headed for victory when it broke a 20-20 half time deadlock with 15 tallies to take a 36-29 lead going into the final period. However, Newville roared back and snatched victory with an 11-point spree in the last stanza while New Oxford could muster but three points.

Dick Richstein looped 15 points for New Oxford while Zeigler connected for 13 for the winners.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

BEING NEIGHBORLY

I have never been able to understand why a nation would want to rob its neighbor, any more than I would want to rob my next-door neighbor. The fact that he might be of another nationality wouldn't make any difference.

But it's different among nations. Maps tell the story about them. They don't seem to be able to stay good neighbors for very long. When the late Will Rogers was a guest of the late Dwight Morrow, then ambassador to Mexico, the latter said to him: "Will, I don't know anything about diplomacy, but these people are our neighbors, and we have to live by each other, so their problems can't be any different from those of any other neighbors."

If nations could only get down to being good neighbors, the waste and wickedness of all "hot" and "cold" wars would be over. But, of course, that would take a lot of intelligence and we haven't advanced that far yet, to our grief and sorrow.

The Good Neighbor idea, as it is being worked out on this Western Hemisphere, is one of the most intelligent human things ever attempted, and I pray that it may endure forever and be an object lesson for the entire world.

I don't care what color a man's body may be, nor what his religion may be, nor from what spot on this globe he may have been born; there isn't very much difference, fundamentally, between him and me. We are both human beings. He has his likes and dislikes, and so do I, but we live in the same world, with the same sky above us. He can have his likes and dislikes. "Even as you and I." If we all thought the same, ours would be a dull world. But we can be neighborly — be good neighbors.

There are many people whom we may not like, but there is no reason why we should hate them, or want to do them injury. This is the only world we shall have the opportunity to make better. Good neighbors can do the job!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Procrastination" Protected, 1953, George Matthew Adams Service

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE GREAT AND THE SMALL
The little man rushed through the town

On business bent.
He greeted strangers with a frown
Where're he went.

For naught but self he seemed to care.
He walked along, head high in air.
So eager to be great was he
He quite forgot a friend to be.

The great man walked at slower pace
And jostled none.
He greeted with a smiling face
The humblest one.

Though weighted down with large affairs,
He kept in mind men's smaller cares.
And never in one heedless hour
Used petty scorn to prove his power.

A weeping child upon the street
Could catch his eye.
With cheery word he'd always greet
The passer-by.

Though busy, he found time to spend
To play the neighbor and the friend
And gather in, from far and wide,
The love the small man tossed aside.

PEN RIOTERS
FACE TRIAL IN WEEK, 10 DAYS

HARRISBURG (P)—Prosecution of ringleaders of recent riots at Rockview Penitentiary will begin "within the next week or 10 days," says Atty. Gen. Robert E. Woodside.

Woodside made the statement in ordering on Friday the criminal prosecution of 79 convicts involved in uprisings last month at Western State Penitentiary in Pittsburgh. The Rockview riot started Jan. 19 as the Pittsburgh disorder was being quelled. The second outbreak was settled Jan. 22.

In issuing the prosecution order, Woodside disclosed that the Jan. 18-19 outbreak at Western Penitentiary stemmed from a foiled attempt by 25 convicts to escape.

Have Full Story
"I am convinced the true story of the attempted break and subsequent prison riots has been learned by the state police," Woodside said, "and that the evidence obtained is sufficient to convict most if not all of those responsible for the attempted break, the riot and other offenses."

Woodside said he acted on information supplied by a six week investigation conducted by two of his deputies and 12 state police detectives.

Signed statements "from some of the criminally responsible and information obtained from other inmates and guards" were the basis for the prosecution orders, Woodside said.

The results of the investigation "which related to the management and operation of the institution" have been turned over to a special five-man committee appointed by Gov. Pine to investigate the state's penal system. The group is headed by retired army general Jacob L. Devers.

A welfare Department spokesman said no detailed estimate of damages at the two prisons has been drawn up. Unofficial estimates of damage at Western alone ranged from $50,000 to $200,000.

WIDOW SUED
IN BANK FRAUD

PITTSBURGH (P)—The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. seeks to recover an estimated several hundred thousand dollars from the widow of a bank cashier whose suicide revealed a two million dollar shortage in bank funds.

A suit filed on Friday in Federal District Court charged that the assets sought from Mrs. Margaret C. Wagner, widow of John F. Wagner, came originally from the bank or were bought with bank funds.

Wagner, cashier of the First National Bank of Cecil in Washington County, shot himself to death in 1950. FBI agents uncovered a defalcation of nearly two million dollars.

The FDIC, which made good the staggering loss, says it has traced about $800,000 of the missing money which it eventually hopes to get back.

Blizzard Almost
Spans Continent

By The Associated Press

A storm that flailed a tapering swath from the Rocky Mountains to the Virginia coast with snow, strong winds, freezing rain and sleet raged into its third day, but signs of clearing arose today in the Southwest.

A belt of blizzard conditions almost spanned the continent today, from Eastern Montana and Northern Nevada through the Great Plains, Mississippi and Ohio Valleys. Wind velocity ranged up to 40 miles an hour.

There were patches of freezing rain that made generally difficult travel conditions even more critical in Eastern Kansas, Northern Missouri and parts of Southern Illinois and Indiana.

Resultant accidents had taken at least six lives; two in Wyoming, and one each Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, and Illinois.

JAP PREMIER
FACES CENSURE
MOVE BY HOUSE

TOKYO (P)—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida threatened today to dissolve the Diet parliament after the House agreed to consider a motion of censure against his pro-American administration.

A spokesman for his dominant Liberal party, Eisaku Sato, said Yoshida might be forced to invoke a law requesting Emperor Hirohito to dissolve the elective body. The Emperor cannot deny the request.

TOYO (P)—The Japanese House today threatened to overthrow Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida's staunchly pro-American government because the aging but peppy statesman called a political rival a "stupid idiot."

The House, in a move unprecedented in Japanese politics, sent to a censure committee a motion to reprimand the 74-year-old Prime Minister.

If the committee recommends severe censure—and Yoshida loses the ensuing vote in the House—he almost certainly would be forced to resign. Some political observers feel he will resign anyway.

After today's vote, which went against him 191-162, Yoshida called an emergency meeting of the Cabinet.

In Heated Exchange
In a heated exchange on the House floor Saturday, Yoshida blurted out "bakayaro" (stupid idiot) at Eiichi Nishimura, a Right Wing Socialist. Yoshida apologized almost immediately.

But the touchy House jumped on the issue, forcing today's vote.

The result was a face-losing defeat for the man who charted Japan's course through the end of the Allied occupation and into its present independence.

Even some of his own Liberal party turned against him. Many members refused to vote, letting the minority opposition push the censure motion through.

Up To Committee
The next move is up to the committee.

SAYS HE WROTE
STORIES FOR AAA
IN RAIL DRIVE

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (P)—A public relations executive says he wrote news releases for 87 Pennsylvania chapters of the American Automobile Association in the midst of an anti-trucking campaign for railroads.

C. Colburn Hardy, account executive of Carl Byoir & Associates Inc., adds that he went to the chapters with the permission of the parent organization, the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, and prepared releases or helped local officials write them for local newspapers.

Called Secret Drive
Hardy, who did not describe the nature of the releases, testified on Friday during pre-trial taking of depositions in a 250 million dollar anti-trust suit brought by major Pennsylvania truckers against 35 eastern railroads and the Byoir firm.

The truckers charge Byoir conducted a "vicious and corrupt" secret campaign of vilification of trucking interests in the course of which it bribed public officials and set up numerous front organizations to conceal the source of its propaganda.

Horace Lyon, another Byoir account executive, testified yesterday that he recommended that the Associated railroads of New York state advertise over the rural radio network which has its headquarters in Ithaca.

It was possible that the committee will simply sit on the motion. A majority of the committee members are regarded as pro-Yoshida Liberals.

Although the crisis erupted over a relatively minor issue, a political storm has been blowing up around Yoshida.

After today's vote, which went against him 191-162, Yoshida called an emergency meeting of the Cabinet.

In Heated Exchange
In a heated exchange on the House floor Saturday, Yoshida blurted out "bakayaro" (stupid idiot) at Eiichi Nishimura, a Right Wing Socialist. Yoshida apologized almost immediately.

But the touchy House jumped on the issue, forcing today's vote.

The result was a face-losing defeat for the man who charted Japan's course through the end of the Allied occupation and into its present independence.

Even some of his own Liberal party turned against him. Many members refused to vote, letting the minority opposition push the censure motion through.

The next move is up to the committee.

Says Amish Parents
May Prefer Jail

LANCASTER, Pa. (P)—A Lancaster County bishop says he thinks most Amish parents with 14-year-old children would rather go to jail than comply with a State Justice Department ruling denying work permits for the children.

Bishop Aaron Esh of Monterey said yesterday he believes 14-year-old Amish children are better off out of school "for their way of life."

Bishop Esh said he wouldn't advise any members of the sect to go to jail on his account as he did in 1951-52, although he thinks many of them would.

Special Super and Roadmaster!

World's newest V8

Television treat—
the BUICK CIRCUS HOUR—every fourth Tuesday

It's more than pride that makes a man want a lot of horsepower beneath the hood of the car he owns.

For the real point in reaching record horsepowers and compression ratios goes beyond miles per hour. It steps up performance and economy in normal driving.

That's what Buick engineers did when they upped the power and compression of each 1953 Buick—SPECIAL, SUPER and ROADMASTER—to the highest figures in Buick's fifty-year history.

In the SUPER and ROADMASTER, they put a new kind of V8 Engine—first passenger-car V8 with 8.5 to 1 compression, and a long list of other major engineering advances.

For the SPECIAL, they redesigned the famed F-263 Fireball 8 Engine—gave it shorter flame travel, faster firing, higher horsepower and compression.

And to these spirited engines they coupled the new Twin-Turbine Dynaflo Drive* that adds flash-fast, quiet getaway to utter smoothness.

Just to give you an example of what all this means: The 1953 Buick SPECIAL with Dynaflo can beat the mighty 1952 ROADMASTER on getaway—can reach 30 mph (when the law allows) with a combined speed and jerk-free smoothness no other car can equal.

Of course, there's far more to these new Buicks for 1953—some seven dozen new features alone.

But why not come in and see for yourself that these are the greatest Buicks—and the greatest values—in fifty great years.

HOUSE, SENATE JOIN FORCES IN HUNT FOR REDS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional sources revealed Saturday the House Un-American Activities Committee will join forces shortly with the Senate Internal Security Committee in searching out Reds in education.

Investigators for the House and Senate groups, it was learned by newsmen, have been working together for some weeks.

There was talk of White House participation in working out co-operation between the Senate committee, headed by Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.), and the House committee, headed by Rep. Velde (R-Ill.).

A statement, made public by the office of Rep. Ostertag (R-NY), quoted Rep. Velde as saying that a plan of "co-ordination and co-operation" had been developed in conferences with Jenner, Chairman McCarthy (R-Wis.), of the Senate Government Operations Committee, the FBI and the administration, represented by Maj. Gen. W. B. Parsons, White House liaison aide.

To Charge Dunham
The development came after Velde's group decided to recommend prosecution of an unco-operative witness for contempt of the House.

Velde reported that Barrows Dunham of Cynwyd, Pa., refused to answer questions put to him in a closed session on Friday. The congressman said the unwilling witness was a professor of philosophy at Temple University in Philadelphia when subpoenaed on Feb. 12.

Morse Says War Is More Likely Now

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) says the Eisenhower administration has increased the possibility of World War III by its foreign policy in Asia.

Morse, who bolted the Republicans to support Democrat Adlai Stevenson for the presidency, said yesterday on the televised "Junior Press Conference":

"We must build up the productivity of Europe and take an enlightened capitalism to Asia in order to defeat communism."

Morse said instead the Eisenhower administration is trying to defeat communism on the military field instead of destroying it economically.

Post Will Publish The Lindbergh Story

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Saturday Evening Post is going to publish, in 10 installments starting April 11, the autobiography of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

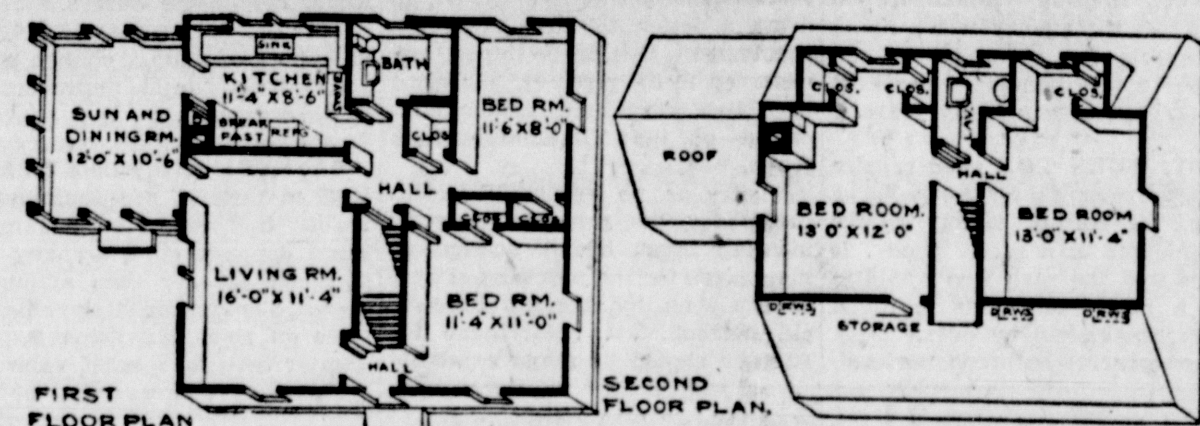

The Lindbergh story, covering the famous flier's life up to June, 1927 — right after he flew the Atlantic ocean from New York to Paris — will be published in book form by Scribners in the fall.

Post Editor Ben Hibbs said his magazine would use only 55,000 words of the 180,000 Lindbergh manuscript.

The flier reportedly will receive $100,000 for the magazine rights.

Philadelphia when subpoenaed on Feb. 12. The committee decided to refer the case to the House and seek a resolution asking the Justice Department to charge Dunham with contempt.

The picture of this house shows the pleasing shadow effect created by a roof overhang across the front. Simple trellises at either end of the main house support the overhang, give an added decorative detail to the exterior, and provide a background for climbing vines or rambler roses in summer.

Suited to 50-Foot Lot
The body of the house measures 28x26 feet and has a cubage of 15,500 feet. The wing adds an additional 10 1/2 feet to the length, but even with the wing the house could be placed on a 50-foot lot. A location facing from northeast to northwest is preferred.

White painted clapboards are used on the exterior, with a green, fire-resistant roof which harmonizes with the green shutters. The appearance of the wing will depend on the use the owners plan to make of it. In the example pictured, generous wall space was given over to windows, to make the room into a sun parlor.

The front door opens into a small hall which has an arch at the left looking in on the living room. A door facing the arch closes off a front bedroom. The stairs to the second floor are directly opposite the front door.

Living Room Well Lighted
The living room well lighted by three windows, has wide wall spaces making arrangement of large furniture pieces easy. A French door opens from the room, in one corner, to the sun-dining room. Across the room from this is another door opening on a central hall which connects with all other rooms on the floor. The cellar stairs are reached from this hall. A large storage closet is included in the hall plan.

The kitchen, with an L-shaped working counter with sink filling one entire wall, has refrigerator and stove so placed as to save steps for the housewife. One section of floor space is left open for a breakfast nook. A glazed door leads from the kitchen to the sunroom. A broom closet is adjacent to this door.

The sun-dining room has doors opening to both front and rear yards. This room measures 12x10 1/2 feet. Each of the first-floor bedrooms has windows on two exposures and a generous sized clothes closet.

The second floor bedrooms are at either side of a hall, with a lavette between them. Each bedroom makes good use of eaves space for storage. The larger room has a door opening in a storage chamber under the front roof slope. Two large closets, flanking a window on the rear of the house, provides additional storage space and this is supplemented by a tier of drawers built under the front eaves. The other bedroom also has similar drawer space, and one large closet.

The cellar extends only under the main house. The heating plant will be placed under the living room and laundry facilities under the kitchen. This will leave the area under the first floor bedrooms free for use as a large recreation room, if desired. Full insulation of the roof and side-walls is recommended and ventilating louvers should be installed in gable ends.

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost.

For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, The Gettysburg Times, Dept. 18, and enclose a self-addressed, 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

FACTS ABOUT PLANT LICE

Plant lice are extremely interesting insects from the student's viewpoint and menacing plant enemies in the eyes of the many farmers, orchardists and gardeners who must combat them. Few kinds of plants are immune to the ravages of these hungry pests. In fact, growers suffer heavy tolls largely in failure to inspect all plants frequently and start effective warfare as soon as the foes are discovered.

There are numerous species, types and colors of plant lice. Most of them live over winter as fertilized eggs fastened to dead vegetation. The forms that hatch from these over-wintering eggs are called stem-mothers. These produce a generation of wingless lice without the intervention of males. Succeeding spring and summer broods may be winged or wingless, with some born alive and others hatching from eggs. Usually there are no males until late summer or early autumn when a generation of true sexes is produced, the males and females of which mate and the females lay the over-wintering eggs already described.

No other known insects multiply as rapidly as do aphids. Many authorities believe that if the entire progeny of one stem-mother survived for a year their volume would exceed the earth in size. That enough of them survive to endanger many kinds of ornamental and food plants is truth enough to warn gardeners, fruit growers and farmers to start war on them early and continue late, not only to prevent visible damage to plants but to avoid the invisible weakening which lice cause and to guard against transmission of such common plant diseases as mosaic.

All plant lice are sap-suckers. This means they cannot be successfully controlled by insecticides, such as lead arsenate, calcium arsenate and others known as stomach poisons. Only by the use of so-called "contact" insecticides, those that cause death by direct contact, can aphids be killed. This fact also stressed the importance of applying the spray so the louse's body is liberally coated. Merely coating the foliage on which it feeds is a worthless gesture because the louse takes none of the poison-coated material into its body.

Orchardists whose scope of operation permits them to follow spray programs provided by state sources find the delayed-dormant and bud applications providing for plant lice control. Owners of but a few fruit trees for home use, if they do not already know, should ask the editor for all the information they need to enable them to solve the plant lice problem before the trees come into full foliage.

Few vegetables escape plant lice attacks. Particularly are peas severely infested. Too, cabbage, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, and other vegetables of the crucifer group may be damaged. In these and other cases careful inspection every day or two after growth starts, with prompt combat when lice appear, is the course of safety. Black Leaf 40 as a spray in soapy water is recommended.

Because grape vines are usually infested soon after new shoots develop, following the full schedule of early grape sprays is advised. This includes advice on plant lice control. Readers who do not already have a copy of our grape spray schedule may obtain it on request to the editor. Please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope. At the same time include all insect control questions you wish to ask the editor.

GROW FERTILITY AND MULCH

A man is found beside a water-hole in the desert, emaciated and in a coma from starvation. He has survived for almost a month on the little tepid water he could scoop from the spring. A physician is summoned and announces after his hurried diagnosis that the man is near death from lack of food. He orders the victim to a hospital and prescribes a strict diet of nothing but coffee for the next two years — no food, no nursing care, just coffee.

That situation is comparable to the way we treat our garden and farm soils. We impoverish them with years of robbing them of nutrients and returning little or nothing to replace our theft. To attempt to correct the trouble we dose them with commercial fertilizers — synthetic stimulants, forgetting that what they actually and critically need is nourishment, just plain, ordinary plant foods.

What are natural plant foods? How may tired, worn soils be rejuvenated?

Natural soil fertility originally consist of decayed vegetation mixed with clay or sand. That is how a virgin forest soil is built. That explains why new ground land is so rich and mellow and why farmers do not apply commercial fertilizers when they farm newly cleared timber land. Therefore, it is reasonable to assume that one of the best ways to build up run-down garden and farm soils is to follow the same pattern — incorporate decayed or decaying vegetation. And that it 100 per cent true. But what about the coffee?

After the starving man is fully nourished and his body is restored to vigor by well balanced meals, then coffee serves its only role — a temporary and brief stimulant. That, too, is the only role for fertilizers. The serve to stimulate plant growth in soils other wise well balanced and deeply mellow and fertile. Fertilizers do not and never will correct soil defects or take the place of natural soil nutrients.

Gardeners and farmers may easily grow more vegetation for summer and winter mulching and for turning under to deepen and enrich thinning and tiring soils. In addition, of course, they should continue the practice of compost saving — utilizing all safe waste vegetation, even miniature weeds.

Spring-seeded oats furnish an excellent supply of green vegetation in a few weeks for summer mulching and for turning under to improve soils. Seed should be broadcast as early in March as soil can be made ready. After the green growth is cut the soil may be planted to any of the relatively early vegetables.

Winter rye, seeded in late August or early September, makes an ideal winter cover and yields a heavy crop of green matter to turn under in the spring. Too, green rye may be cut before the straw begins to harden and the material used for summer mulching or for composting.

Sudan grass fills the emergency summer mulch role with several additional merits. Seeded from early May until mid-July, Sudan grass furnishes a heavy yield of green material in a few weeks and permits several subsequent cuttings until frost arrives. A small plot yields an exceptionally large quantity of material for turning under, for mulching and for composting. Excess yields may be cured for hay. And this grass is remarkably resistant to droughts.

Shorten Winter, Lengthen Spring, With Cold Frame

A BLOCK OR BRICK IS CONVENIENT FOR RAISING SASH TO ANY HEIGHT NECESSARY.

About this time winter begins to be tiresome, doesn't it? Here is a way to relieve its tedium, and make the days until spring seem fewer: Build a cold frame.

While a cold frame can be used the year around, it is difficult to find time to build one during the active garden season. But now there is plenty of time, and little to occupy it; and all you need are a few elementary tools and space in a warm garage or basement to swing your arms, and handle lumber.

Cold frames are usually made 3x6 feet or some multiple of this, to fit the standard glazed sash. But there are so many glass substitutes available now, that you can change the size to fit the most convenient location available for it in the garden.

This should be entirely free from shade especially to the south, so that the sun may shine directly on the frame. The frame should be constructed of 1-inch boards, of cypress, white pine or some wood which resists rot. First, dig a hole in the ground slightly larger than the size of the frame. It should be at least a foot deep. Into this hole put the frame you have built so that 6 inches of it is beneath the surface and the remainder above. This will insure that no drafts enter from beneath. Construct the frame so that the front is 4 inches above the surface, and the rear, 9 inches. It must slant toward the south, where the winter sun shines. It is well to hinge the sash at the top of the frame, so it can be easily opened for transplanting purposes and airing.

A sunny spot in the garden, protected as much as possible from the full force of winds and driving rain, is the best situation for the cold frame. It may be too cold now to dig in the garden, but the sash may be procured and the lumber frame made, so that when the first warm days arrive you are ready for serious gardening.

Glass substitutes are worth considering for the sash. They do not break and the breakage of glass in windy localities is sometimes considerable. They are much lighter than glass, a merit which women appreciate. They do not let in as much light as glass, but for growing seedlings they let in enough.

The substitutes most commonly used consist either of wire screens covered with material resembling celluloid, or fabrics treated with wax to make them waterproof, and let more light through.

CUMBERLAND, Md. (P)—Emil Rieve, general president of the Textile Workers Union of America, says appointment of President Eisenhower's "billionaire cabinet" provides the Communists with more ammunition than the Voice of America can undo in 10 years.

Rieve, here to install officers of Local 1874 of the CIO union, warned Friday night that "the road ahead is not a rosy one."

On The House

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

A LOT OF PEOPLE are looking to the Eisenhower administration to make it easier to own and maintain homes.

They argue that this can be done without any government subsidy which we'd have to pay for with income taxes.

The pressure is coming from two directions. The home builders are clamoring for lower down payments on new houses. The building industry in general, including the institutions that lend money to home owners for repairs, want older houses to be given as good a break as new houses when it comes to credit for bills owned.

This all sounds like quite a trick without a government handout. But the experts think it can be done. They cite the fact that the Federal Housing Administration (FHA)—the agency which made it possible for so many million people to buy homes—has cost the taxpayers zero in 14 years.

YET, WHEN YOU need repairs or improvements for your house today, the cost of saying "charge it" amounts to a pretty penny. It seems that the man who wants to buy a new house gets a much better break, and he does. Furthermore, so much modernization work is needed that the FHA exhausted its authorization to insure 1 1/4 billion dollars worth of such loans many months ago. Material manufacturers want that limit raised quickly. Because more than a fourth of all repair loans are used for roofing, siding and other exterior finishing to keep the weather out, the Asphalt Roofing Industry Bureau is pushing for this.

So big men are going to bat for you. The men who supply the equipment and the money have suddenly realized that the 43 million existing dwellings in this country make up the biggest single asset (200 billion dollars) in the inventory of our national wealth.

Forty-one of these leaders got together recently in a round table discussion at Rye, N. Y., to draft a letter to Eisenhower on this subject. One of the things they observed in their report, published in House and Home, trade publication of the Time-Life-Fortune group, was:

"There is no economic justification for the present policy of insuring much higher percentage mortgages for the purchase of new houses than for the purchase of old housing. . . . Mortgage insurance should be made available to help finance improvement costs at the same low interest as new construction and over a much longer term than is now generally possible."

SO TWO POWERFUL movements are now under way: One, this campaign to make painless a new roof, new heating plant, garage, paint job or whatever your house needs. The other to make it easier for you to buy a house—new or old.

"There is no economic reason," the industry leaders concluded, "why the down payment on an $11,000 house should be five times as big as the down payment on a $7,000 house."

This handicap placed on new home buying was shown by a national survey. The National Association of Home Builders polled leading contractors throughout the country on the cash payment ahead. They were asked if a return to the original FHA cash rule of 10 per cent down on an average house (now priced around $12,000) would help home buyers.

Out of 260 returns, 246 big builders said such a change would range from "mild improvement" to "sensational."

BANKERS AND MONEY LENDERS in general are beginning to realize that credit on a family's home depends on a security that is much broader than arithmetic shows. The sentimental value you place on your own home is much greater than its market value.

This was demonstrated several

Week Of Activities
Harold E. Shoemaker, Robert C. Good, Mervin K. Myers and Jay A. Wildasin served as ushers at the Sunday morning worship service in Christ Reformed Church. The message was presented by the pastor, the Rev. G. Howard Koons, and an anthem was sung by the choir. The bulletin was given by Mr. and Mrs. Lavere G. Mummert and family. The Rev. Mr. Koons announced that on Sunday, March 8, all Protestant churches are invited to observe "One Great Hour of Sharing" by remembering their brothers with financial aid.

Activities scheduled this week at Christ Church include: Tuesday evening, 7:30 o'clock, March meeting of the Girls' Guild at the home of Miss Shirley M. Dutterer.

years ago when mortgages of terms longer than 20 years were first proposed. Economists held that mortgages for 30 or more years—devised to make monthly payments lower—would be actually insolvent for a certain period. They argued that the annual depreciation rate for a house would exceed the amortization rate at which the mortgage be paid off.

So there would be a time in which the property might not be worth the amount of outstanding debt.

We asked an astute practical builder about this at the time. He was Alfred Gross of the Gross-Morton Corp. His answer was: "Theory! What man who loves his home compares its market value with his mortgage? His home means more than that. He will hand on to it through thick and thin—as long as he can. His home means more to his family than it does on the market. Money can't buy some things!"

There's an old economic saw: "The higher the risk, the higher the interest." So we may see the time when money lenders look at the security of home ownership somewhat like they look at government bonds—worth a lower rate of interest.

McCarthy Can Be Showdown
If the time comes for him to draw the line on Congress or a member of Congress a decision may be forced on him by an event not yet even thought of.

At the moment McCarthy is mentioned as the one who, through his investigative tactics with the executive branch, may force Eisenhower into a showdown.

In answering questions about McCarthy's investigation both Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have been bland and pleasant. It may be significant that both, nevertheless, in guarded language refrained from giving the Wisconsin senator a blank check.

Research men have found that a pressure cooker is ideal as a ready-made gas chamber for the study of the arcing of contacts of a telephone relay at the Bell Laboratories.

IKE IS PATIENT WITH CONGRESS; CAN BE "TOUGH"

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower seems to be taking the long view in his four-year job of getting along with Congress. Be patient. If he had begun to throw his weight around, it would be understandable.

He won his election overwhelmingly. His fellow Republicans squeaked through to a majority in Congress so slim it couldn't be much slimmer. Undoubtedly he pulled enough of them along to give them the majority.

His reaction to the bumps already given him by Republicans has been restrained. But, then, none of the lumps so far has been of major importance. So he hasn't had much reason to mount his high horse.

Sen. McCarthy's investigation of the State Department's Voice of America, while persistent, hasn't pulled the roof down so far.

U. N. ASSEMBLY WILL RESUME KOREAN DEBATE

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The non-Soviet world looked to resumption of the United Nations assembly's Korean debate today for an inkling of the Kremlin's answer to U. S. charges that Russia is responsible for the war in Korea and could halt it.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky led delegates of two Soviet satellites list themselves to speak today in the Assembly's 60-nation Political Committee, recessed since last Thursday while delegates waited for the Communist reply to the Americans.

Czechoslovakia's new foreign minister, Vaclav David, was ticketed as the committee's opening speaker. Polish Foreign Minister Stanislaw Skrzyszewski was listed for the afternoon session.

Their words were due for careful study by Western delegates aware that they might reflect the line to be pursued by Vishinsky when he speaks for Russia. Committee members also were alert for a surprise move by either which could yield the floor to the top Communist spokesman.

Cuba, Belgium and Ecuador were also on the morning speaking list.

Vishinsky disappeared from committee meetings immediately after Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U. S. delegate, ticked off his 10-point indictment of the Russians last Wednesday. Lodge charged the Russians instigated the North Korean aggression and have since since kept the North Koreans and Communist Chinese going with land, sea and air equipment.

Before he left the committee, however, Vishinsky promised he "would answer the challenge" by Lodge.

SUSPEND PROF. AT TEMPLE U; WOULDN'T TALK

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Temple University has suspended a professor who refused to testify before the House Un-American Activities Committee. It charged the teacher's action had "deliberately created a doubt" as to his loyalty to America.

Dr. Robert L. Johnson, Temple president, suspended Dr. Barrows Dunham, professor of philosophy, under provisions of a state loyalty law which requires the university to guarantee that no "subversive persons are in its employ."

Dr. Johnson in a letter to the professor yesterday said that Dunham's refusal to answer questions of the House committee "created a doubt as to your loyalty status."

Dunham replied strongly: "I conceive that no act of mine could have better displayed my loyalty to this country and its traditions than the course I followed last Friday."

Dr. Johnson wrote, "I cannot agree that this lack of co-operation is consistent with your obligations as a teacher and your responsibilities to all members of Temple University and to the society of which it is a part."

Dr. Johnson today takes over as head of the International Information Administration, which operates the Voice of America.

Defending his action, Dunham said:

"In an institution dedicated to truth the relations between teacher and student, between teacher and teacher ought to be protected. If teachers can be required by inquisitions to reveal the thoughts honestly expressed by their students or colleagues nothing can be discussed in the classroom and nothing learned. I have been defending the integrity of this relationship.

"There is no question that Congress has the right as it has the power to investigate for legislative purposes. What I encountered last week, however, was not genuine inquiry but public defamation intended to extirpate from the colleges not disloyalty but dissent.

"I have never concealed my views nor violated the impartiality of the classroom. If the regularly appointed bodies of the university will consider my record they will discover my suspension to be as unjust as it is unwise."

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Communist Yugoslavia has signed a formal treaty with Turkey and Greece declaring their joint determination to defend themselves "against any exterior force."
